International Marconi Day 2019 is 27 April

Some 70 stations have registered to take part in the 2019 International Marconi Day (IMD) observance on Saturday 27 April <http://gx4crc.com/gb4imd/>. Registered stations all will operate at sites with a personal connection with wireless pioneer Guglielmo Marconi, including sites at which he set up transmitting and receiving stations <http://gx4crc.com/imd-stations/>. The 24-hour Amateur Radio event (between 00:00 – 23:59 UTC) celebrates the birth of Marconi on 25 April 1874, with the event typically held on the Saturday closest to Marconi's birthday. During IMD 2019, radio amateurs around the world will contact historic Marconi sites. The event is sponsored by the Cornish Radio Amateur Club, which will operate as GB4IMD.

While 27 April is the day of the official celebration, some IMD special events will take place outside of that time frame, although only contacts made on 27 April count for IMD awards. For example, in Austria, OE19M will be on the air for 72 hours,
